Mustang spirit-words which convey vivid flashes of the green, orange, and white. Just as the wild mustang gallops the plains of America and makes its mark along the trail, so does the McArthur mustang (spirit) carve its place in the annals of school life in Broward County. Spirit, according to Webster, is "enthusiastic loyalty." Epitomized at the football field, it is by no means limited to such narrow confines. Mustang spirit reveals itself in our school's halls, on the track field, and in the school gym. It is felt deep in the hearts of those who represent the McArthur mustang at band and choral contests. All of us share this intense loyalty and enthusiasm as we hear the praises of the community when they read that McArthur wins another state championship or that a McArthur student is a top teen. Mustang spirit even shows itself when defeat rather than success rears its head. At these times especially, the green, orange, and white pull together and shout — "we are #1." With all of our accomplishments in the academics and in the community, mustang spirit truly is felt "up in our heads, down in our toes, and all over us." To be a McArthur mustang is to be someone very special.

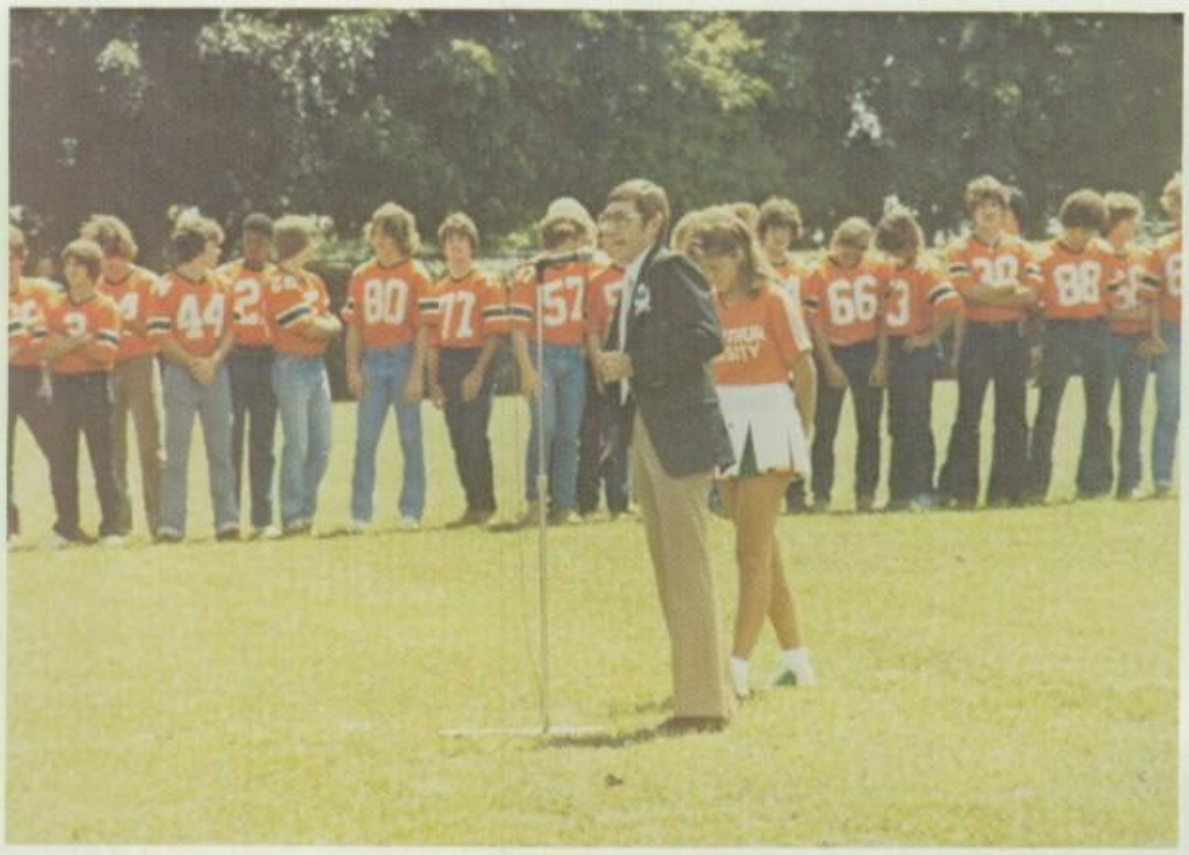
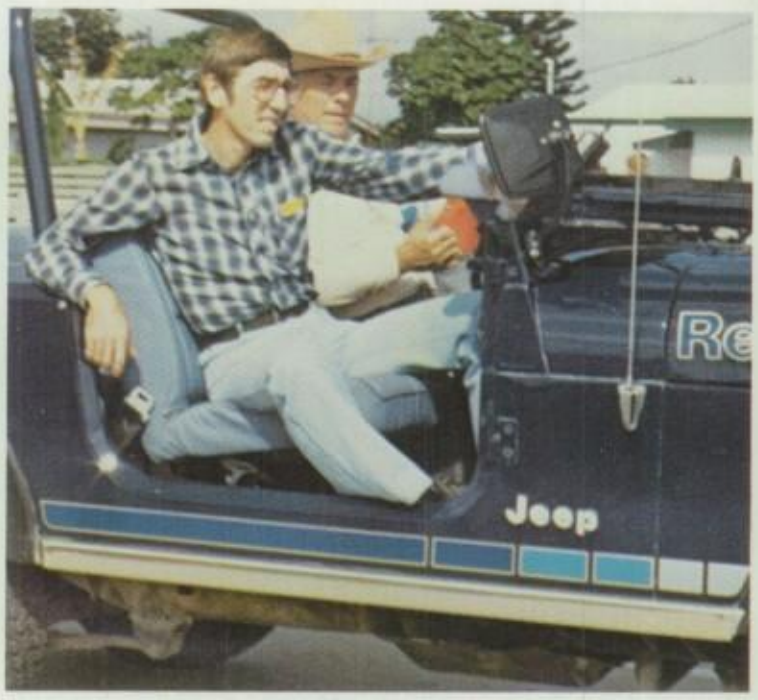
A true American

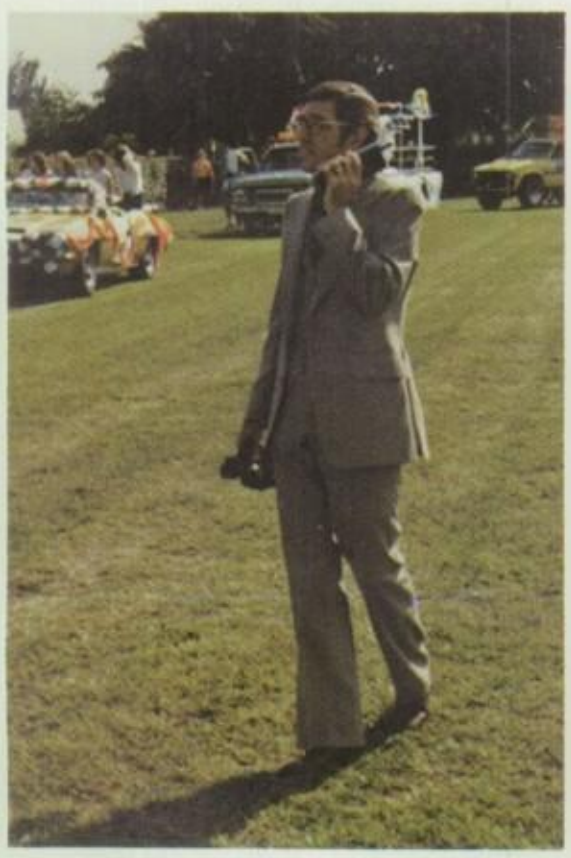
The carefree years of childhood fly by rather quickly. As they do, students extend their visions beyond the immediate community and realize that they are part of a grander scheme — that of being Americans. As adults, people can be observers, or they can be active participants.

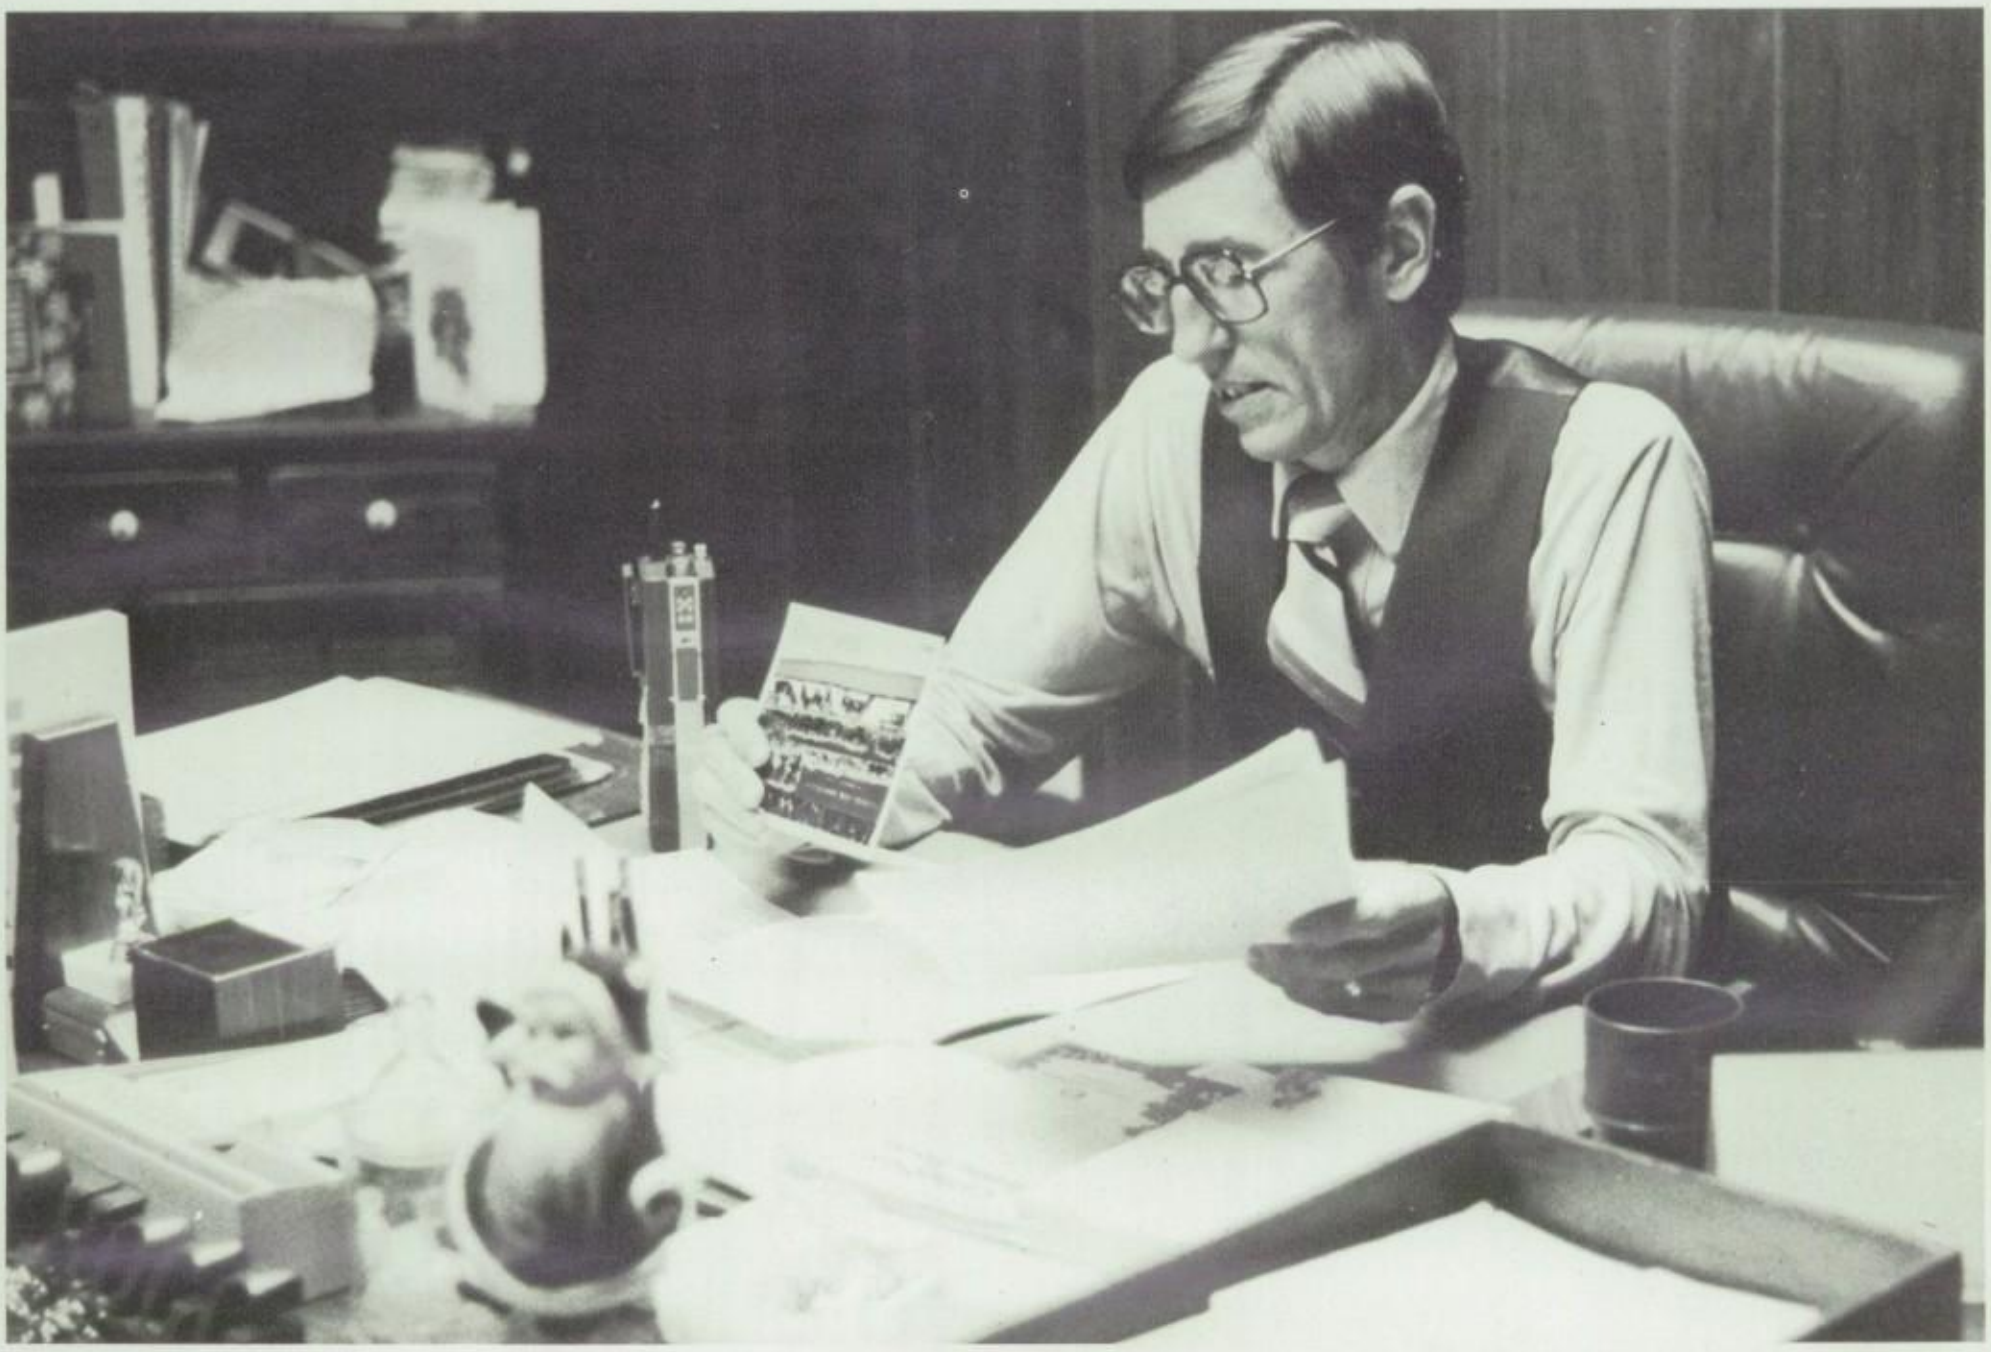
School spirit evolves into American spirit. Students register to vote — they know that to participate actively they must have a voice in their own affairs. They elect men and women who will represent them in all levels of government as they once elected class officers. They also become involved in world affairs. To be an American is to care. Remember when the fifty two Americans were held hostage — the entire country grieved for them. When they returned home, the country was ecstatic. Spirited Americans have pride in themselves and in their way of life. Americans open their hearts and their resources to the less fortunate peoples of the world. Thus, American spirit is a natural extension of school spirit.

DEDICATION









The editors and staff dedicate the 1981 MUSTANG yearbook to Mr. David Hogg. Mr. Hogg came to McArthur in 1979 with many years of teaching and administrative experience. Through the years he has built a philosophy which he intends to use in governing McArthur. He envisions the school as a place to prepare students academically and socially for successful lives.

"I enjoy working at this school because the students transfer a spirit of youthful enthusiasm to me," claims Mr. Hogg. He continued, "My main goal is to make the students happy because all the education in the world is useless if you aren't happy!"

In the years to come, Mr. Hogg will continue to strive to make McArthur the standard bearer in quality, secondary education. Thank you, Mr. Hogg!

ADMINISTRATION

The administrative staff at McArthur High is highly experienced. Collectively, they insure the academic and physical security and stability of McArthur.

The principal and his assistant administrators are in charge of making sure the academic programs are running according to county standards. They also resolve any student discipline problems. The security staff handles serious violations occurring on campus. The yearbook staff salutes their efforts.

Broken into three separate areas - Main Office, Guidance Office, and Dean's Office - the secretaries hold down the fort, so to speak. They file, type, and answer telephones, but their efficiency doesn't stop there. They help the entire McArthur staff with correspondence, answer intercoms, take care of public relations, and handle a variety of miscellaneous other chores. Other staff members oversee the financial affairs of the school.

Lunch time at McArthur is radically different this year. Now, all students and faculty eat at the same time. Thanks goes to the staff, under the supervision of Mrs. Ham, who bear up under this onslaught of humanity each day at 11:35.

GUIDANCE

But what about my problems?

The guidance department, under the direction of Mr. Hankerson, helps to guide students in self understanding and wise decision making. The McArthur High School counselors help with the year long problems of student scheduling, college planning, job attainment, and the day-to-day personal problems that face many students.

This year the guidance counselors are aided and assisted by members of a new program called peer counseling. Headed by Mr. Artus, the peer counselors are composed of McArthur High School students who have been trained to counsel and encourage other students.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

K. Zito

J. Davis

J. Kelly

Special education is designed to help students with disabilities. The school is ordered by federal law to help pupils who fall under the category of emotionally handicapped, mentally retarded, visionally impaired, gifted, impaired hearing, and speech therapy. Mrs. Zito is the head of the department and is excited over the accomplishments being made. The department works closely with guidance to see that all students have their needs met. Through mainstreaming, many of the students attend classes throughout the school but keep close contact with the special education staff.

Two key words of the current English program are change and flexibility. As students' needs vary, English teachers adjust their programs to meet those requirements accordingly. Each student receives individual guidance so he selects a correct sequence of courses.

According to Mrs. English, who heads the department, English teachers will continue to meet the needs of McArthur's student body. She adds that an exciting new addition to the curriculum is the use of micro-computers in reading and remedial labs. English teachers are helping students remediate statewide assessment skills through pupil-pullout programs. The demands placed upon the English department are varied and changing, but English classes at McArthur are flourishing.

F. Clark

C. Bullis

T. Chancey

McArthur's math department has many pluses. The broad curriculum reaches out to the students at all levels, as classes range from general math to calculus. An added feature is the expanded computer classes which attract students who have an interest in this 20th century phenomena. Pupil pullout, affectionately known as PP, is a new program which uses a one-to-one instructional approach. Students who participate in this program are remediated in specific skills from the state assessment test. Another important factor is the teaching staff. The teachers are experienced in their fields and are willing to help students. Mr. Clark, the new department head, has a positive attitude about the programs and feels that the students are having their needs met.

This year the social studies department attracted the interest of many students through contemporary as well as traditional courses. Subjects such as world geography and sociology are now the fad. Two brand new classes drew students. One is modern European history, which is available to advanced students; the other is an alternative American history class. The latter offers instruction to students who need a basic skills approach in either American history or world geography and gives them a chance to learn about their world on their level. During this election year, students at McArthur perused the political scene with the help of history teachers.

For those who wish to explore the secrets of our very existence, the science department offers a four year program which begins with the essential basics of the universe and advances to the more complex principles of human behavior. McArthur's qualified staff and the abundance of the latest in scientific equipment help today's student learn about the scientific world. However, science teachers in their classes emphasize the need to apply common sense in order to understand scientific principles. Outstanding students in biology and chemistry receive science T-shirts, while many others enter the science fair.

The business department at McArthur High continues to be a success. The classes offer a variety of skills to students which prepare them to function as individuals. Additionally, business courses offer students a chance to prepare for the "real" world through possible career alternatives. Through clubs like FBLA, the department is attempting to make the students more aware of the benefits to be gained from its courses. The department's programs for 1980-81 include a Margery Peterson type-a-thon and a National Business Conference for FBLA. Many students throughout the school participate in both these functions.

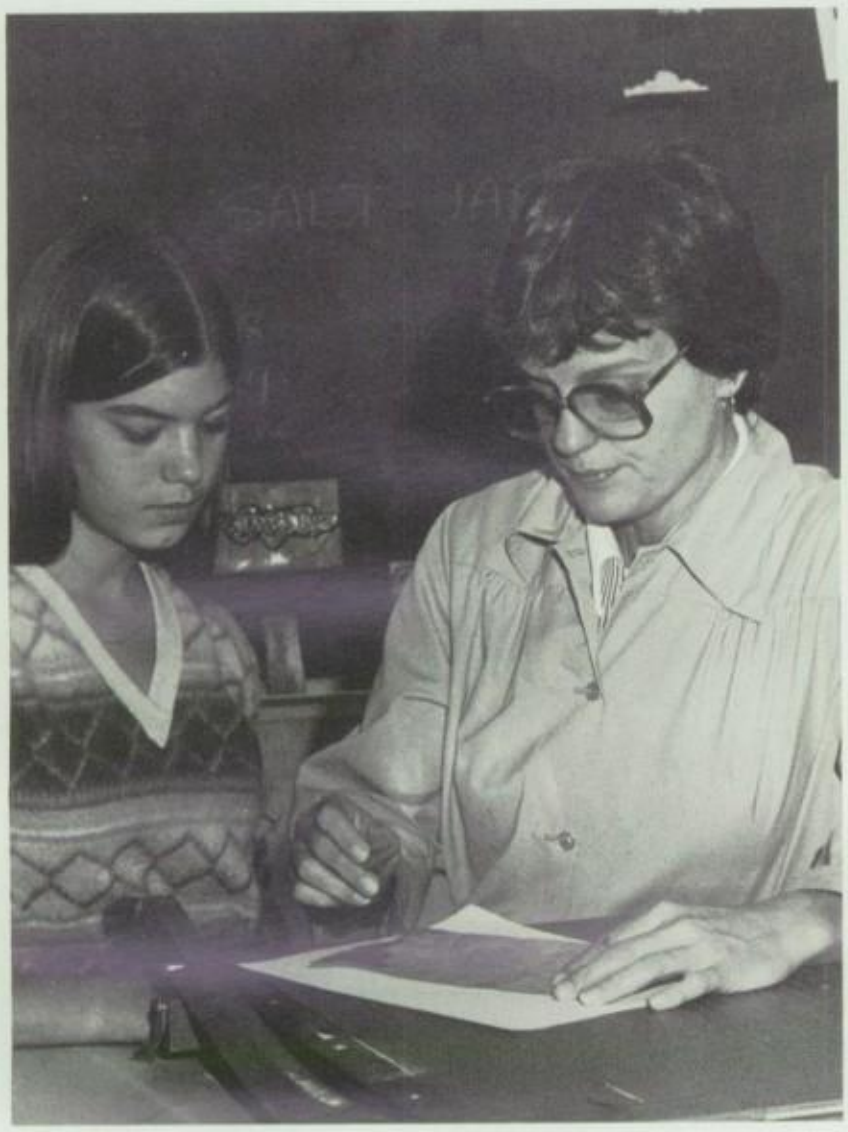
The home economics program is divided into five major categories. Child care services is a class which trains students for a career in teaching young children. "Little People," a club, is an integral part of the program. Child development students study the individual from birth through death. Participants in the food classes study foods and nutrition. Clothing class members study clothing and textiles with an emphasis on clothing construction. The last group, members of modern family living classes, study courtship and marriage and consumer economics. FHA/HERO is the related club for these latter four classes.

ART



Joyce, what's this?

Taking art seriously

The art department gives students with creative minds a chance to express themselves in their work. Through the instruction and guidance of Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. Peddie, and Mrs. Day, these talented students are taught skills which may lead to successful careers in the field of art.

M. Williams

McArthur band director, Mr. Bradley, has reigned as the supreme leader of the Marching Mustangs for a total of 19 years, and as the saying goes-"the best is yet to come." The band is made up of five separate units. This year the Mustang band adds to its laurels a superior rating at the Florida Bandmaster's Marching Contest and invitations to perform at Opryland, Tennessee, and in the Rose Festival Parade in Georgia.

Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Williams, is broken up into four different sections. Each deals with a separate aspect of singing. Members of the choir perform around the county and participate at Disney World's Christmas candle lighting ceremony.

Industrial art classes are offered in five general areas: graphic arts (print shop), materials and processing (woods), metals, electronics, and drafting. This adds up to over 700 students enrolled in the program, making it one of the largest at McArthur. The classes give the students the opportunity to become familiar with and develop the basic skills in the various industrial areas. Students who do well in the programs are encouraged to pursue follow-up study in the vocational/technical schools. Some start right after graduation in related jobs.

HORTICULTURE

P. Pursell

G. Buriff

Horticulture is a two hour block which consists of 4 main course offerings: turf management, landscape maintenance, nursery operations, and an introduction to agricultural business. In these courses, students learn plant propagation, fertilization, and equipment care and maintenance. Under the direction of Mr. Pursell and Coach Buriff, the horticulture students are constantly improving and beautifying the school campus. They are winners of numerous awards.

I'm BAD!

When will this ever end?????

WORK EXPERIENCE

What a nice face.

H. Powell

R. Wolfson

McArthur's work experience program, a two hour block, is designed to help students who need or want jobs while still going to school. The school, home, students, and business community cooperate to provide students with a proper program. This course is under the direction of Mr. Powell.

AUTO MECHANICS

He really thinks I'm reading!

Auto mechanics is a two year program combining educational theory with practical experience. It is a three hour block which prepares students to take care of their own automobiles and cars of others. The course teacher, Mr. Frazier, is pleased that more people are getting involved with the study of cars, because as he puts it, "the future of automation depends on knowledge and care."

L. Frazier

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The teachers in the physical education department see to the development of their students' physical abilities; concurrently, they instill in their students the spirit of sportsmanship and a sense of fair play. Activities in physical education include softball, basketball, swimming, volleyball, and others. Weightlifting is a special offering which helps to develop muscle tone and strength.

Miss Solomon tries to keep a straight face.

New aspects of culture are introduced in the foreign language department where students who study foreign languages learn French and Spanish under the edifying direction of Mr. McMeans, Mrs. Solares, and Miss Solomon. Studying the culture, customs, and people in addition to the language broadens the horizons of McArthur students and gives them a better understanding of the world and other people.

The No-Name Bandits - this was the name given to the 1980 girls cross country team. Although the team had no big name stars, as in the past, they successfully captured their 4th straight state title. This year's team will be returning almost in its entirety next year with the promise of another strong season.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Don Roberts, the 1980 mens cross country team enjoyed an impressive 8 and 2 record. Led by regional champion Henry Jones and the consistent running of Pat Hopkins, Jeff Curry, Tab Sasse, and Scott Wallace, the McArthur team was one of Broward's best.

A most inspired group of volleyball players surfaced at McArthur this past season. Led by a new leader, Coach Cheryl Ewing, the girls combated many odds, and posted a deceptive 7-9 record. Spirited players Monica Riddlehoover and Janet Jacupke were the captains. The J.V. squad held their own with a 7-7 season, and gave a very optimistic outlook for the future varsity squad.

Harold Gubnitsky receives last minute instructions.

The end of 1980 proved difficult and frustrating for the McArthur Mustang football team. Although well staffed with returning lettermen on both the offensive and defensive squads, overconfidence and a tendency to fumble on key plays thwarted many of the team's efforts for victory. With a 4 - 10 record McArthur's brightest moment came when Kendrick Stafford rushed for over 1,000 yards and made the Sun Tattler's All Broward team with placekicker Scott Smith.

Tough defensive effort

The 1981 Men's Basketball Team experienced a very up and down season. They broke out like gang busters in the first few games and pulled several upsets. As the season wore on, the Mustangs fell into a severe slump. The District Tournament saw the Mustangs narrowly lose to South Plantation, the eventual champion, by a score of 81-77.

The Girls Varsity Basketball team experienced a very up and down year, but finished with a solid third place in the District finals. Led by the experience of Brenda Wade and Val Gissendanner, the ladies were the surprise of the county. A young team will take to the court next year, but the magic should continue.

The soccer team, led and controlled by a superior coaching staff, had an outstanding season this year. The defense, led by Tom Meingasner and Tim Sticco, and the offense, led by Troy Roarke, carried the 1981 McArthur Soccer team through their District and Regional championships and to the Sectional runner-up position. With a great deal of the team returning next year, the soccer team once again can be expected to bring McArthur to the top.

Progressive should be the word describing the 1981 Mustang softball team's season. The girl's record of 8-12 did not reflect the talent and ability that the girls on the team possessed. With most of this year's young team returning, next year should be a very successful season.

The Lady Mustang track team successfully defended their state runner-up trophy in '81.

The girls used the shotputting of Monica Riddlehover, the sprinting of Dwanna Jones, and the distance core of Vivian Fernandez, Lisa Netti, Carol Ewing, Danielle Heath, and Kim Wieneke to win the region, district, and county championships.

As in years before, the Lady Mustangs will be the team to beat in 1982.

A live masterpiece

After countless hours of extremely complicated work, the horticulture department participants entered their work in the Broward County Youth Fair. They were the recipients of many awards. A scholarship was given to senior Scott Bowling. It's evident that much preparation went into McArthur's entries, for our school walked away with awards for best show, best topoary, and best hanging plant. This was a proud moment for everyone in the horticulture department.

STUDENT

Student government, better known as Student Council, is composed of a group of students who organize and manage the student activities at school. Under the direction of Mrs. Drago, these students work to make McArthur a respectable school. They hold meetings twice a week to discuss the club's activities and what Student Council can do to improve the school.

After many years of devotion, Mr. Dunn handed over his position as sponsor to Mrs. Harris. Both sponsors helped Student Council prepare for Homecoming. This included Spirit Week, the homecoming parade, and the dance at Pier 66. Since homecoming, Student Council has continued to fulfill its duty. On the front of the school is a list of all the state champions from McArthur High School. This was a project of the Student Council. Also, Student Council oversees class elections.

In conclusion, Student Council has been an outstanding, authoritative group. The students and adults involved have contributed much time and hard work in making McArthur a better school for future alumni.

KEY CLUB

1980-81 Key Club

Key Club is a co-educational organization which performs service projects for the school and the community. This club works with Kiwanis of West Hollywood-a group of businessmen who, also, provide the community with their services.

With the help of Mrs. Scagnelli and Mrs. Klein, co-sponsors of Key Club, the members started the year with an initiation picnic at T.Y. Park. From there, they worked at the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, and they provided needy families with Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets. During the holiday season, Key Club members visited the children at the Memorial Hospital Pediatric Ward and gave them presents and candy. Key Club aided the Kiwanis with a barbecue to raise $10,000.00 for the Kiwanis Scholarship Fund.

At the beginning of May, participating went to the district convention. They learned new techniques for running their club and met representatives from other Key Clubs. Key Club members ended their year with a banquet, at which the 1980-81 officers presented the new officers for 1981-82.

One of the few culturally related clubs at McArthur is the French Club. During the school year, members learn about the preparation of French food. They get to taste samples at various banquets held periodically.

In addition to this, they study the events that occur in France and learn about the French language. The French Club is also one of the school's largest clubs with fifty members.

In a speech following a soccer playoff game, Coach Westacott said that without the support of all the Soccerettes his team would not have reached the plateau it did. This compliment was well earned by the hardworking ladies. During the season, they stayed after school for several hours cheering the team on to victory. Under the direction of Mrs. Peddie, the girls performed various functions for the soccer team. They served as time keepers and held fund raising activities.

The soccerettes salute the district and regional soccer champions — the 1980-81 McArthur soccer team. Several awards were given at the soccer banquet. Individual trophies were presented to players selected by their teammates including: Most Valuable Player-Troy Roarke; Best Offensive Players-Scott Smith and Tom Peddie; Best Defensive Players-Glenn Peterson and Warren Ponce; Most Improved Player-Brian Halfacre; Rookie of the Year-Ed Moss; and Co. What?

One of the most prestigious clubs at McArthur is the National Honor Society. In order to qualify for membership, a sophomore must maintain a cumulative average of 4.0. A junior must have a 3.8, and a senior needs a 3.6.

Members must be active and attend all required meetings and functions or face possible expulsion from the club. Members help fellow students by providing a tutorial service. Additionally, the club pays for the advanced placement exams.

The Club holds its annual banquet in May where awards are presented and new members and officers are installed.

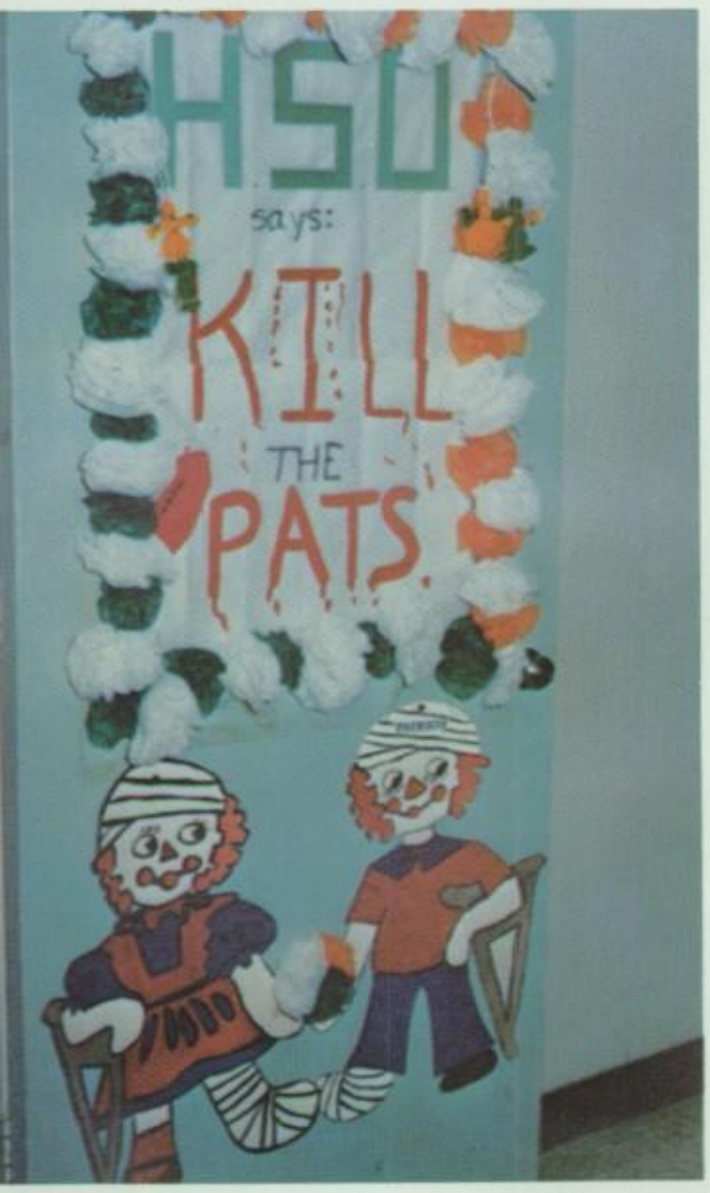
SPIRIT WEEK

Casket carrying is McArthur's favorite pasttime.

It flew across and landed on this wall.



Why would they want to hurt our editor?

Spirit week is a five day period in which humorous and crazy events take place in an attempt to raise the excitement and enthusiasm levels for the big homecoming game.

As tradition declares, spirit week has five different themes, one for each day. Throughout the week a series of contests takes place. "Simon Says," a pie eating race, and the famed hoolahoop spin are some of the contests which inspire school spirit and participation. Not only does everybody have a grand ole time, but students and staff alike get a chance to let their hair down and "blow with the wind."

"We gather here, to pay our . . . "

A new concept in pie eating is using your nose.

Is that supposed to be a horse?

The theme of this year's homecoming parade — country western — was symbolic of the mascots of both schools.

Twenty five floats participated in the mile long, dual parade. The chorus float was McArthur's winning entry, while the wrestlerettes had the winning car.

After the parade, the floats and cars proceeded to the football field for the presentation of the awards and one last march around the stadium.

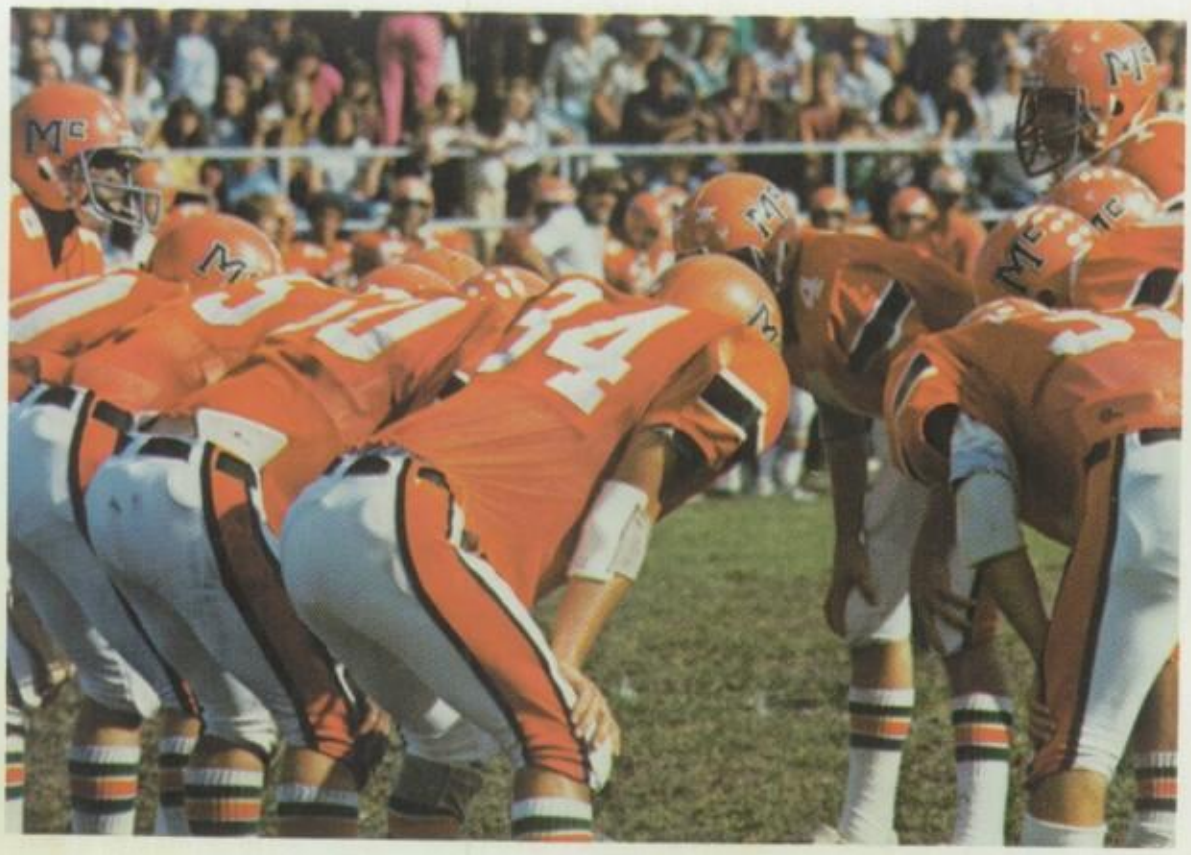
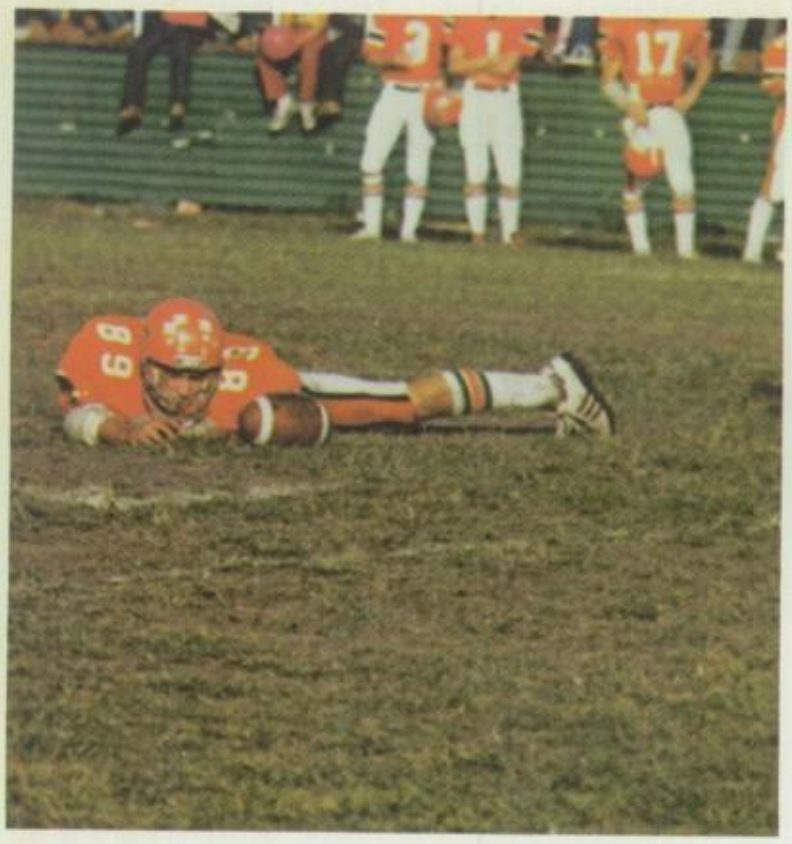
HOMECOMING



OK, she's in the third row with blond hair. Let's go get her!

Saturday, November 22, and the clock finally ran out.

The score board flashed the disappointing outcome, Miramar-22, McArthur-0. The first half kept people on the edge of their seats-cheering-but as the game continued, Miramar increased its lead. Things might have turned out differently if the referees had not called back McArthur's two touchdowns. So, the Mustangs, in spite of some outstanding individual performances, were unable to muster the expertise to "bury the Patriots."



The football didn't talk.

And over there is where we will put the railroad.

Another one bites the dust.

This year's Homecoming Dance was held at Pier 66 in Fort Lauderdale. The gala occasion started at 8:30 and lasted until the wee hours of the morning. A terrific band, a congenial crowd, and the vivid colors of dancing couples lent a festive air to the annual event. Attended by both students and staff, the homecoming dance was one of the highlights of the year.

Every year the band and drill team put on a variety show called "Mane Attrakshun." Singing, dancing, and comedy are all part of the show. Under the direction of Mr. Don Bradley and Mrs. Sheri Barbara, the performances took place on February 26 and 27 in McArthur's auditorium. Highlights of the 1981 program included the Blues Brothers, a singing and comedy duo, and a band, High Performance. The sound system for the show was provided and run by a few members from chorus. Thus, Mane Attrakshun is a school event that is highly awaited each year.

The Mock Wedding is the culmination of a year long study of relationships and economics. Students researched customs, traditions, etiquette, various ceremonies, processionals, and recessionals. The students worked closely with the community to get all items for the wedding donated.

In addition to the members of the bridal parties, many other students serving on various committees gave freely of their time to produce a most successful event.

GRAD NITE

Once again, Disney World played host to over 30,000 graduating seniors- 200 of them were from McArthur. After a 4 hour bus ride, our seniors invaded the Magic Kingdom. They entered Disney World at 9:30 p.m. and returned to their resting place, the bus, at 5:00 a.m. There were several well-known performers who entertained the visiting graduates, e.g., Sister Sledge and Terri Gibbs. "It was one night to remember," commented Mr. Hackett. Amen.

This year's prom proved to be one of the best. It was held at Galt Ocean Mile Hotel in Ft. Lauderdale. The festivities commenced around 8:00 when the seniors started to arrive in their prom attire. A sit down dinner was served at 8:30 with prime rib as the main course and chocolate mousse for dessert.

The dance floor remained crowded throughout the evening as students and staff showed off their favorite steps. Senior superlatives were awarded during the evening. As midnight approached and couples began leaving for further festivities, all agreed that May 23 was a night to remember.
